

Advancing Leadership Institute

Vice President, Information Technology
Alliance CU
$346M
San Jose, CA

Alliance Credit Union has the essential addition to their executive team, an executive role that will navigate the organization's Information and Technology needs of today and anticipate and deliver on the technological and service needs of tomorrow. This role and its visionary leader, formerly an AVP level, will lead a team to deliver results and service to the internal and external customers. In addition to sound technical skills, the leadership talents of this executive will contribute to the creation and delivery of the strategic plan. Reporting to the EVP/CFO, this VP will join a highly collaborate and cohesive team committed to project planning and the setting of goals/measurements for success.

Initially this role will entail leading a department to prioritize projects and services that support today's needs. With a collaborative approach, this executive will anticipate the needs of staff, creating a fast and efficient member experience, allowing the entire business to run more efficiently. The members and end users will benefit from the IT department's sense of urgency and methodical approach.

The opportunity for this executive position includes seeking out and implementing unique and creative ways technology will facilitate opportunities for the business to grow. Developing strategic partnerships with key vendors will allow for Alliance to help shape how products and services are delivered to the membership base in California and North Carolina, creating a more relevant experience. In addition, this Vice President will develop and enforce procedures to ensure the integrity, security and privacy of product and user information maintained by the Credit Union.

Requirements to be considered for this opportunity: Final candidates will have demonstrated how IT has contributed to the overall strategic operation and growth of a financial institution. The successful candidate will join this team leaving behind a high performing team at their current organization as a testament to their leadership and development track record.

This person will join Alliance Credit Union with 5-7 years of management experience within a retail financial institution (bank or credit union).
