

Senior Risk Analyst
Northern California
$1.5B+ Financial Institution

Our client, one of the largest financial institutions in its area, is recruiting for a senior position critical to the evolution of its business practices today and the future. This position, with direct exposure and coordination with senior leadership including the CEO, will lead the organization's risk management function. Today that role includes management of the ALM and enhancement of the credit risk management function; this person will play a lead role on the ALCO and credit risk committees in addition to calculating the Allowance for Loan Loss (ALL).

The successful candidate must come with an appetite for increased elevation of their expertise as this role will include instituting a more aggregate risk management approach to business practices as well as assessing and managing the institution's entire financial structure in the future.

This opportunity will be the senior contributor with two other analysts as support within finance. The successful candidate must be a leader that navigates and coordinates well within a matrix reporting environment, as a dotted line to both the SVP/Finance and CFO.

Required experience:

- 3 years ALM modeling experience with industry leading systems (Profitstars, QRM, BancWare/SunGard, IPS/Sendero)
- Exposure to credit risk management
- Experience participating in annual strategic planning and budgeting processes
- Management experience preferred
- Extensive financial modeling skills required, including statistical analysis, forecasting, budgeting, and financial analysis
- The incumbent must be a cross-functional team player, able to build effective working relationships, has strong influence management skills, and has the ability to understand and apply its functions to the overall business strategy and operations, to drive transparency, integrity and fiscal responsibilities
