

Advancing Leadership Success

Vice President, Information Technology

Sun East Federal Credit Union

$519M Assets

Aston, PA

A vice president of information technology is required for a progressive financial institution in Aston, PA. Blend your strategic and tactical leadership through the creation and execution of an information technology plan that fully supports the organization's strategic vision. Bring forward concepts, ideas, and recommend new products and services that meet the digital needs of the members. Review existing technology processes and systems and create a framework for bringing forward platforms that are current and relevant and will support evolving digital and technology needs. Implement updated cybersecurity programs that keep member's financial needs safe is essential.

The successful candidate will be one who blends well with the culture, enjoys building teams and camaraderie, and is adept and flexible with both detailed and strategic contributions. The culture is friendly, mutually supportive, and accountable for success. The new vice president of information technology is a member of the senior management team and must have proven expertise in management, leadership, employee development, regulatory compliance, and accountable for the success of the entire team. You will be expected to cross-functionally collaborate, seek out the needs of all internal and external users, and proactively make recommendations.

The candidate must be at ease in coaching and mentoring situations and performing detailed work while, at the same time, being visionary and strategic. Presentations to the board will be made on a regular schedule, and this vice president will attend board, pricing, and ALCO meetings as well as annual strategic planning sessions and participate in outside professional organization meetings on a regular basis. A bachelor's degree is needed and a master's degree is an added preference. The core operating system is Episys from Symitar.

Compensation and benefits are competitive.

Sun East was chartered in 1949 as the result of Sun Oil Company employees banding together to assist each other with their financial needs. From these humble beginnings, Sun East has grown to over $519 million in assets, serving the financial needs of more than 43,000 members throughout Delaware, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey. The board of directors, committee members, and staff strive each day to uphold the mission and vision of the credit union. They are grateful for the trust their members place in them and for the privilege of being able to serve them and their families! Sun East gives back to the community in significant ways.
