Hello, Friend -

Credit unions are faced with a new burning platform regarding their workforce. As our offices and branches re-open, how do we effectively understand what makes a successful long-term remote worker, a hybrid worker, or full-time onsite worker? Or, when and how do worker rotation make sense? What kind of leadership behaviors are needed to manage a diverse workforce in multiple locations?

In this webinar, we'll address:

- The key considerations CEOs and CHROs need to decide how to best leverage a strategic workforce in this new way of doing business.
- A practical application of assessing, designing, creating, and integrating a strategic workforce while staying true to your vision, mission, values, and priorities.
- Five key buckets to start with, in order to refocus your workforce strategy in processes, roles, responsibilities, employee engagement, and culture.
